BRAINSTORMS

We celebrated July 4th in grand fashion. Normally we stay home on these days when everyone is in a mad rush to travel but not this year. We accepted an invitation to eat with our daughter in Atmore, 100 miles from home. Well we got there hungry and on time for a noon meal but were told it was scheduled for 1 p.m. Needless to say the bar-b-cue ribs didn't get ready until 2 and we were starved! There is enough gray hair on our head to be considered wise to the world but this never guarantees common sense. In other words we ate entirely too many pork ribs and paid the price. When we woke up at 1 a.m. the next morning we knew we were not going to die ... we were hurting to bad and had to get better to die. Nothing would put out that firein our stomach and now almost a week later, we still are not comfortable whether we are eating or not eating. However we have once again promised to always eat a more sensible volume of food.

We have decided we are for the new nominee to the U. S. Supreme Court. Our decision is not officially an action but a reaction. Anyone opposed by the National Organization of Woman (NOW) must have some merits. This doesn't mean we are opposed to fair treatment for females but that organization has been known to take some far out positions, plus we are opposed to any organized group with narrow special interest making decisions which involve all of us. We also think the National Rifle Association (NRA) goes to the extreme in the oposite direction.

Last week we urged property owners in the parts of the city added in 1988 to attend the planned zoning meeting. Except we got the day wrong. The meeting is set for Thursday (today) July 11th at 5:15. We knew what was right but didn't let our brain control our typing fingers.

We would probably have gone to jail in Gainesville, FL last Thursday. A Marine veteran had his film confiscated by Alcoholic Beverage & Tobacco agents who claimed he was making pictures of undercover operatives He was told to give up the film or go to jail. That story would need a little more explaining for us to give up our pictures made at a public parade. If the agents were really undercover, we wonder why they think someone was pointedly making their picture, etc. We always give law enforcement folks the benefit of any doubt because we respect them and the job they must do but . . . don't mess with us like that. The vet was quoted as describing "The whole thing is just preposterous," and our description comes on a little stronger. This happened on the day all America was celebrating that wonderful freedom we enjoy in this country.

The director of a California facility has announced the discovery of a volcanic like formation on Mars that looks like U. S. Senator Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts. We kinda think maybe this director thinks about as much about the spoiled, liberal rich kid as we do. We think it would be a great idea for him to go to Mars ... and stay.

The Coffee County Commission is getting all kinds of advice on what to do with the remains of the 1/2¢ sales tax. Most advice seems to be "give it to us." First, by law, they have to pay refunds to those who prove they paid it. Most of us don't keep cash register tapes that long. We wonder how the courts would react if we ask for our refund and point out the flood destroyed all our records. IRS accepts that excuse within reason so ... We still think Coffee County folks should back off and put the money into the hospitals to help Coffee County residents who can't pay their hospital

Our friend Bob Folsom died last week. The way we fussed with him over the years, the "friend" label might surprise some but it is true ... he said so day, July 1, 1991. Funeral services MAN himself. There probably has never been a man who cared more for his fellow human beings than Bob Folsom. He helped a lot of times when he didn't even want credit ... we know 'cause there were times he had us deliver the cash money to someone or some church he felt needed and deserved it. His personality often invited disagreement, something he equated with honesty. He served his country his entire adult life, having retired from the Navy, served with his governor-brother in state government and also served local government as a council member and as mayor. Bob still ld have been a candidate for mayor again next year if he had lived. He felt his destiny was to serve. We gonna miss him.

We lost another friend the next day when Charlie Zimmerman died. Zimmerman didn't come to this area until a few years ago, when he found a new bride who was an Elba girl. He was retired, and there wasn't many places he hadn't been or many things he hadn't done and/or was willing to try again. However he did throw up his hands some time back when we rode together to the Jr. College for a night computer course. They didn't exactly teach what he wanted to learn and Charlie soon found something else to do with his time. However every week he kept asking us what we had learned. He was an avid golfer also but that he did with someone else

The program cov-ered a variety of topics from basic reading, English and math skills to job-specific skills such as blueprint Loose-leaf paper, Colored pencils reading and industrial electronics. During the 14-week rebuilding period following the flood, the program struggled to regain momentum

It received a shot in the arm recently when Dorsey announced its partnership with Enterprise State Junior College and MacArthur State Technical College in the colleges' Workforce 2000 Partnership, a federally funded program promoting literacy in the workplace.

According to Dorsey Trailers director of human resources, Kenny Sawyer, "Dorsey's owners have a strong commitment to education and training. We recognize that to meet the demands of increased productivity and quality we must invest substantial energies toward elevating the educational level of our employees." A STEP-BY-STEP APPROACH Dorsey is in the planning stages of a bi-modal effort to improve jobrelated literacy. "First we want to of-fer opportunities for persons to develop and expand their basic skills reading, math and English. The second dimension we plan to offer is intended to address more advanced skills - technical, job-specific knowl-

Melissa made her first solo trip to Grandma's house last week for week-long stay, and I guess everything went okay, because when we went to Mobile to get her Sunday she was happy and my parents were still as calm as ever. I'll quickly admit that both Mom and Dad missed Melissa, and little sister didn't have anybody to fuss with (we didn't miss that), but all was back to normal by Sunday night as both girls were back at home and they were fussing as loudly as ever!

BABE RUTH ALL-STARS OFF TO GOOD START

The Elba Babe Ruth All-Stars began play in the District 2 tourney last weekend and at presstime Monday were still very much alive and looking forward to a rematch with Andalu

The All-Stars whipped Opp 5-1 in the opening game, but then fell to Andalusia 3-1 and dropped into the loser's bracket. The All-Stars were ahead of Opp 5-1 in the fourth inning when the game was halted due to rain and were scheduled to resume the game Monday night. The rainy weather made it impossible to have an in-depth report of the action, but next week we'll hopefully have the whole story of the All-Stars success.

PRE-SEASON WRITINGS INTERESTING IN PREP CIRCLES

The daily newspapers have already started writing about the upcoming high school football season and one report last week listed the top players in the state. Elba got shutout in the list, but some of the Tigers opponents did quite well. Opp had one player in the top 24 and two others listed as players to watch, while Louisville had two players as those to watch and Luverne, Rehobeth and Daleville all had one player on the list. The list was compiled from recruiters and coaches, so, you can take it for

CLASS C DISTRICT WAS MISSING JUST ONE THING

The Men's Class C District softball tournament was held last weekend in Elba and despite almost five-inches of rain on Saturday, never stopped until a winner was crowned early Sunday morning. The fields were in superb shape Friday and Saturday morning; however, by mid-afternoon Saturday they had been reduced to quagmires and the play was hampered for the re-

By the time the tourney ended the only thing missing was the pigs, because the infields looked more like pigpens than ballfields.

BOUTWELL CHANGES MIND - TAKES POST AT FLORALA

Coach Leavy Boutwell surprised many people recently when he did an abrupt about-face and resigned at Smiths Station to take a similar post at Florala. When Boutwell resigned last year at New Brockton to take an assistant job at Elba the Elba fans were thrilled that one of their own had come home. Boutwell was the ultimate team-player and was a huge asset to the squad, but he was a head coach at heart and reluctantly left his hometown and took the head job at Smiths Station, a top-notch 5A program. Despite the promotion and chance to gain even more recognition as one of the top high school coaches in the state, Boutwell just never felt comfortable at Smiths Station and with even more reluctance, resigned to come back to south Alabama as the head man at Florala.

Boutwell's recent job changes may have some people scratching their heads, but not me. I know that Coach Boutwell lives to coach football and work with youngsters and did what he did for very good reasons. Moving from New Brockton to Ozark last summer was a hard decision, the decision to leave and come to Elba was an even harder decision and his decision to leave Elba and take the Smiths Station job was the hardest yet. So, I'm sure the move to Florala was one that came after a great deal of thought and soul searching. One thing I can assure you, his decisions were never based upon it was best for Leavy Boutwell. Leavy Boutwell cares about his family, his players and his friends and did what he felt was best for all con-

No matter where he is, Leavy Boutwell will be an asset and those around him will be better off for having him around. Good luck, coach!

Dixie Minor District Tourney set for July 15-20

The Elba Department of Parks and Recreation will host the 1991 District Dixie Minor Baseball Tourament next week at the Legion Field Park, with four teams coming to town to join the host Elba All

The tourney will include double headers on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, with single games set for Thursday, Friday and Saturday,

The Elba Dixie Minor League is in only its second year of existence and lacks the experience of older eagues; however, manager Alvir Cordell believes that the level of talent will be similar and expects the Elba squad to make a solid showing "For Elba to be selected to hos the tournament is tremendous and if should help our Dixie Minor pro gram take off," said Cordell. "Other towns have had the league for years. while this is our second full season. The experience will make a differ ence, but 9-10 year-old boys are too gether with our hitting in the same game we will have a chance to sur prise some folks," added Cordell, "but if we don't, we could play two games and then watch the rest from the bleachers. Our players know the basics of the game and have im proved with every practice, all they lack is playing time and actual game experience against good competition. We've got three pitchers that should be able to put the ball over the plate and have some players that can play well defensively, so, the years and never even make it to the listrict tournament," said Cordell, "and for us to just get the chance to play is tremendous. We will practice hard and play as well as we can we win or lose, the Elba Dixie Minor League will be a big winner!"
